The NAV was up 5.7%, versus the market which was up 1.9%.

There was no declarable trading activity in the portfolio (i.e. activity relating to positions greater than 3%). August was also a quiet month for portfolio news; the only story of note being Bellway's trading statement at the beginning of the month, which contained an important, overarching message; the strong trading conditions of the last couple of years have not been derailed by the Brexit vote. Although it remains too early to assess the medium – long term impact of the vote, sales since June 23rd have been resilient, with both prices and volumes holding up nationally. The one exception to this broad trend is the upper end of the London housing market, which was soft before the Brexit vote and remains so.

On August 26th the Board of the Aurora Investment Trust announced that it had raised £9.8m of gross proceeds in a Placing, which had been announced the previous week. The amount raised exceeded expectations and is part of the ongoing effort since Phoenix Asset Management Partners were appointed as Investment Managers at the start of this year, to increase the size of the Trust.

Aurora shares are eligible to be invested in an ISA. Neither the Aurora Investment Trust nor Phoenix Asset Management Partners run such a scheme. You should consult a financial adviser regarding a suitable self-select ISA provider.
